Community Fund Infuses $100K to Five Non-Profits Providing Critical Local Services

PORTLAND, Ore. — Advantis Credit Union is responding to the ongoing, far-reaching community impacts of COVID-19 in a very real way. Grow: The Advantis Community Fund is awarding an unprecedented $100,000 to five local nonprofit organizations to bolster their immediate response efforts.

“We recognize immediate funding is critical to local nonprofits — especially those providing essential services like food, utility assistance, and medical care,” said Bob Corwin, Advantis president and CEO. “We doubled our donations through Grow to $100,000 and are awarding grants directly to five nonprofits we recognize are providing vital services during this pandemic.”

Five Grow Recipients

Advantis researched the incredible need in the area and granted each of the following groups a $20,000 dollar donation.

The grants will be earmarked for immediate needs in the community. For the Sunshine Division, the donation will support the distribution of emergency food boxes. Impact Northwest and Human Solutions grants will support utility and rent assistance. Store to Door will use these funds to support grocery delivery to seniors and adults with disabilities. Outside In’s grant will assist in providing medical and mental health services.

10 Year Anniversary and Growing

The 2020 unprecedented grant coincides with the 10th anniversary of the Advantis Community Fund. Grow has granted more than a half-million dollars to local organizations and funded 62 projects. The annual Grow campaign typically relies on community votes to determine grant recipients, but Advantis has chosen to temporarily change the structure due to the current urgent needs.

Advantis will also match employee donations of up to $100 made to any nonprofit organization of their choosing. More information about relief options can be found on Advantis’ website, including help for its members experiencing financial hardships.
